Office Action Summary

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

Group I: claims 1-29, drawn to a method of treating meat classified in class 426, subclass 641

Group II: claims 30-42, drawn to an apparatus for treating meat, classified in class 99.

Group III: claims 43 and 44, drawn to a packaged meat product, classified in class 426, subclass 129

Group IV: claims 45-47, drawn to a packaging material, classified in class 426, subclass 132.

The inventions are distinct each from the other because the method as claimed in Group I does not require the specific apparatus as claimed in Group II. For example, the method does not require the specific conveyor device having meat holders displaceable along a track wherein the holders securely hold the meat products. As recited in Group I, the meat could be positioned on the surface of a conveyor with no holder system or partition walls or a friction surface. Group III, the packaged meat product is distinct from the other groups since it can be made without the method or apparatus recited in Groups I and II. The packaged product of Group III is distinct from the film of Group IV because the film need not be used as a package. The additive could be smeared onto the product. The film could also be used with foods other than meats.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art requiring separate searches, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

If either Group I or Group II are selected, the following election of species is required.

This application contains claims directed to the following patent ably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Species I, wherein the additive treatment comprises an additive emitting jet

Species II, wherein the additive treatment comprises a plastic film

Species III, wherein the additive treatment comprises electrostatic additive treatment

Species IV, wherein the additive treatment comprises needle injection means.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
